X-BRACE®

2

Fox pools utilize some of the same technology used in building bridges, tall buildings, water towers and other structures that require durability & strength against high stress. Your swimming pool holds thousands of gallons of water while holding back thousands of pounds of earth.

In order to ensure structural integrity that last, it is important that your pool walls will remain intact, regardless of external forces. Patented by Fox, the X-Brace structure provides 100% support for your pool walls and deck without concern for internal and external pressures. Don't be fooled by imitations – Demand the original X-Brace only available from Fox Pool.

- Pool panels are supported every 2 feet by welded-on Z Bar stiffeners.
- The X-Brace™ are bolted to panels using heavy duty corrosion resistant bolts.
- Steel rods and "S" hooks anchor the X-Brace™ and the pool wall to the ground.
- A concrete footer of foundation is poured around the perimeter of the pool, creating a permanent "foundation."
- Pool can be backfilled with or without water.
- Reinforcing rod is added to connect the top of the X-Brace™ to the deck structure.
- The concrete deck encapsulates the X-Brace™ and reinforcing rod to form a unitary structure.
- Backfill settles over time, forming a thermal barrier between the deck and the ground to protect against frost upheaval.
